Dear partners,

We are pleased to forward the official invitation to the China International College Student Innovation Competition (2026) , and we sincerely encourage your university and students to participate.

The competition actively promotes international exchange and cooperation, building a global platform for university student innovation practice competitions. From 2017 to 2025, more than 50,000 international projects and over 180,000 international university students from 157 countries and regions have participated. This year's finals will be held in Nanjing, China.

Please find below the official English version of the invitation letter for this competition (<https://www.pilcchina.org/invitation>). In addition, the competition website (<http://cy.ncss.cn/en/>) also offers versions in French, Russian, Spanish, Arabic, and other languages. You are welcome to review it and forward the information to your faculty and students.

Please note the following information:

- 1.The official registration website for this year's competition for foreign universities is the website of the Promoting Association for Global Youth Invitation Leaders Community (PILC) at <https://www.pilcchina.org>.
- 2.Registration and submission of competition materials have already begun and will close at 24:00 on September 15.
- 3.If your university registers to participate, you will be required to fill in the inviting Chinese institution at the time of registration. The official English name of our university is: Central University of Finance and Economics (CUFE).
- 4.If your students plan to participate in the competition, please carefully read all the requirements in the invitation letter.

We warmly welcome your students to join this global innovation event. Should you need any further assistance, please feel free to contact us.

Sincerely
International Cooperation Division
Central University of Finance and Economics (CUFE)
